Dear Parents/ Caregivers

Kia Ora, Malo e Lelei, Talofa, Greetings.

SCHOOL REPORTS/PARENT TEACHER INTERVIEWS

By now you should have received a school report about your child and attended a parent/teacher interview, or will do so next week. They are critical to gaining a detailed understanding on how your child is progressing at John Paul College. Please find time to discuss the report with your child and the feedback from teachers. If you have any outstanding concerns contact their subject teacher(s) or Dean. (Contact details are on the last page of this newsletter).

NCEA LEVEL 3 EXCELLENCE ENDORSEMENT

Congratulations to Arvin Pingol, Rebecca Colby, Andrew Fairweather, Matthew Goodall and Daham Nanayakkara who have not only achieved their NCEA Level 3 but from the work that they have completed this year have also had their NCEA Level 3 upgraded to an Excellence endorsement.

It is also pleasing to know that there are a number of other students in Year 13 who are close to achieving this success as well. These students will in due course also be rewarded with a Level 3 Excellence endorsement badge

ENROLMENT PROCESS UNDER WAY FOR 2016

Following our successful Open Night, Sue Rowles, our Enrolments Secretary, has begun arranging interviews for next term. If you, or someone you know, would like to have their child at JPC in 2016, please download and complete the enrolment forms from our website www.jpc.co.nz or call into reception to pick up a prospectus. An interview time will be offered once the completed forms are received. Close off date is 3rd July.

JOHN PAUL COLLEGE FUNDRAISING

We appreciate the goodwill and effort parents demonstrate when they fundraise on behalf of students at John Paul College. It is important given the sensitive nature of fundraising that it is carefully administered. The Board of Trustees has approved a Fundraising Policy and Procedures which it requests everyone in the J.P.C. community to follow. I attach these for your information and consideration.

If you have any outstanding questions please contact Liz Lock on 3478795 extn 8839 or Liz.lock@jpc.school.nz

WINTER SPORTS TEAMS - A thank you.....

I have had the opportunity of watching a number of our teams competing over the last few weeks, including soccer, rugby, hockey and netball. The college deeply appreciates the time, energy and commitment given by parents as managers and coaches, including hours spent transporting, organising draws, laundry, fundraising etc. it is through your voluntary efforts that our students do so well. I must also commend those JPC students who have stepped up and volunteered to coach some junior teams; without their support, some teams may not have been fielded.

IT HAS BEEN NOTED that many parents/caregivers are dropping off and picking up their children within the school gates. Please use the drop off area in front of the school or the surrounding streets. Our pedestrian student's safety is paramount when they enter and exit the campus and there have been a few close calls, both with pedestrians and vehicles.

God bless

Ms B Northey – Head of Physical Education Dept E: barb.northey@jpc.school.nz

HOW STUDENTS SEE SPORT

Adrienne Faulkner (Sports Co-ordinator, St Mary's School, Auckland) used a creative scenario-based approach to elicit feedback from the focus group of students. The scenarios were carefully planned to ensure no bias or leading questions were used in the feedback process. A range of thinking tools and strategies were presented to the group in order to get a range of responses.

Brain storming and the recording of feedback together with questioning for understanding.

The Scenarios

"How can your coach make your practices and games a safe and fun environment?"

What does this look like, sound like and feel like?

What are the reasons you join a sports team?

Winning philosophy vs a philosophy of winning

Findings

The Year 2 to Year 8 children were articulate in their understanding of several questions. The following quotes are responses from the children when asked:

"What is "winning" to you?"

"That I tried my hardest"

"Being a good sport"

"Keeping on trying"

"I played my best"

"You can lose but still win"

"It matters to win, but only if it's been fair"

"I played with confidence"

"Should every player get a fair turn?"

"Yes, even if you're going to lose"

"Yes, because you're there to have fun."

"The rest of the team are all there for each other."

"Yes, you could still win"

"Just about fun – we're only 10"

"Yes, it's not the Silver Ferns"

"Yes, otherwise the subs wouldn't get to share in the glory"

"Yes – turns, is fun"

"You could give them the choice"

"Not if it was to win the championship."

After the children identified aspects of importance they were then asked to place their need on the court where it fit best, i.e., "A Philosophy of Winning" v's "A Winning Philosophy".

The children felt that the most important needs in their sporting environment were fairness and fun.
