STUDY BREAK: YEARS 11-13

The next two weeks are critical for students in Years 11-13. It is essential that they take time for a good break over the holidays but equally, they should devote some time to:

- ☑ Complete all assignments and assessments
- ☑ Know how many credits they have gained and what needs to be achieved
- ☑ Put in place a study timetable
- ☑ Start reviewing previous exam papers
- ☑ Attend extra tutorials
- ☑ Preparing for external exams in Term Four

PTA QUIZ NIGHT - Challenge others - Support your school - Come & meet your school community

Keep Friday 11th September free for this fun filled evening. Get your team together, dress up in 'team theme', be in to win prizes, quick fire raffles and bragging rights as Quiz Winner!! There will be a Silent Auction, packed with outstanding items that have been kindly donated by our local Business Community. This is your chance to secure some fabulous products and services at amazing prices while supporting your children at JPC. I encourage you to join us!!!

God bless

Patrick Walsh - Principal

UNIFORM SHOP SURVEY RESULTS

Following the recent survey to parents regarding the opening hours of the uniform shop the following decisions have been made:

The days the Uniform Shop is open will change to Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. from the beginning of Term 3. This will be a trial until the end of the year.

At the end of the Term 3 holidays the Uniform Shop will be open for two days, the last Thursday and Friday. This will help parents with the changeover to summer uniform.

The Uniform Shop will be open for one late night towards the end of next term. We will open from 4 p.m. - 6 p.m.

Students can come and try on uniform items and they can be paid for by internet banking and the items will be delivered to the students the next day.

There are limited uniform items available at Postie and the Warehouse.

Thanks

Maree Stewart - Deputy Principal Human Resources

NEWS FROM THE MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT
AUSTRALIAN MATHEMATICS COMPETITION

The Australian Mathematics Competition will be held on Thursday the 30th of July. All students who entered the competition have been issued with a booklet containing past practice questions and answers. Please encourage your child to go through the booklet and do the practice questions.

ICAS

The ICAS Mathematics competition will be held on Tuesday the 11th of August. All students who have entered the competition have been issued with a booklet with past practice questions and answers. In the past students who have taken the time to go through the practice questions have generally done better in the actual competition.

Lara Cordoni – Mathematics Department

Call for all recipes!

Loren Skudder-Hill is asking for any extra contributions to a cookbook raising funds for KidsCan. There's a bit of room to fit in a few more recipes, so if you think you've got one worth sharing, simply send it in to lskudderhill@gmail.com by the end of this week, for the chance to have it printed.

Please also include a contact as published recipes will feature the family's name as a means of thanks.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE BY JPC HAKA GROUP

It was with great pride to see our roopu perform with such passion and energy at the Te Arawa Regional Cultural competition last Friday, the culmination of many months of practices and hard work. They showed much grace and pride as they performed for the community, with many of the students first timers in the haka group, on stage, in a major competition.

Judging by the very positive and supportive comments given by the judging panel across all disciplines, the roopū can be very proud of their result. An extraordinary accomplishment in particular is that of Visesio Sakalia who placed 4th in the Whaikōrero section. Visesio was competing against native speakers of the language and students from Kura Kaupapa Māori. Kei tawhiti kē! (Awesome!).

An incredible effort and experience by every single member of the roopū; massive congratulations go out to all of you. The group came 7th out of 10 and their marks were all in the mid to high 90/100 with a couple of 100/100. The roopū are looking towards the future with eager anticipation and expectation.

The preparation and finesse taken to ensure the group presented on stage is an enormous tribute to (Nan) Chrissie Papuni, (Whaea) Cecelia and (Tutor) Te Po Mitai-Ngatai. We are also grateful to a number of experts in the field, too many of whom there are to mention, who were also brought in to ensure JPC presented their best effort yet. A huge thank you must also go to Mr & Mrs Swanson-Hall, Mrs Phillips, Mrs Sewell, Mrs Nicholls-Tau and Mrs Berryman-Kamp, who supported the group throughout the many days of practice.

NEWSTEAM 2015

John Paul College loves to read the Daily Post. They took out 1st and 2nd place in the Intermediate section of the Newsteam Competition on Wednesday 24th. 52 teams entered this year, a record number,

Team A Hazel Hagan and Orla Walsh took out 1st place

Team B Alesha Hemmingway and Emily Park took out 2nd place

The reserve was Hannah Muir

John Paul College supervisors were Eamon Walsh, Dahan Nanayakkara, Danielle Cooper, Mrs Julia Skudder. Thank you to the organisers and supervisors for their hard work in making this a fun event.

KIA ORA TATOU FROM THE COUNSELLORS

While much of what we do in counselling is in response to problems brought to us, we aim also to be proactive in helping students to develop both the skills for dealing with challenges and the resilience to side step bumps in the road as they journey onward in life.

Resilience - What exactly is it and why is it so important? Here are 2 definitions:

Resilience can be understood as the capacity to spring back, rebound and successfully adapt in the face of adversity (Henderson et al, 1999).

In a New Zealand context, resiliency could be considered as hauora – a state of strength and well-being. It gives individuals living in an adverse environment the capacity to surmount their difficulties (Peters and Thurlow, 2002)

Considering the daily challenges that lie ahead for our young people, helping them to develop resilience will be very important in supporting them to enjoy fulfilling lives of emotional and social well-being.

One thing that students tell us is helpful in building resiliency is summed up well in the following words:

Sometimes I can change things and sometimes I can't BUT ... I can change the way I think about things.

When students visit us with a problem they often describe feelings of worry, upset, fear or anger. What they don't always notice is that these feelings sit alongside unhelpful thoughts.

Negative self-talk such as "I can never keep any friends" often leads to unhelpful conclusions about ourselves, feelings of upset, and behaviours that can end up worsening the problem.

If we can challenge the negative thoughts, the feelings that accompany this thinking also become more positive, our behaviours change and these then feed into further positive thoughts. Eg. Instead of "I can never keep any friends" we might think "I have some good friends". Our feelings might change from loneliness and upset to appreciation and confidence and we might find ourselves accepting rather than avoiding invitations to connect with others.

Resilience is all about having self-belief in our ability to stay in charge of our reactions to challenges.

ENGINEERING/FOOD TECHNOLOGY CAMP

Palmerston North or Auckland 6 - 9 July 2015

This four-day, intensive-learning camp for Year 11 to Year 13 students will let you experience how engineers and food technologists approach problems using an engineering approach.

In this case, it's the year 2070 and you will come up with creative distribution solutions in response to a major disaster. You will interact with some of our brightest engineering and food technology students and staff and be involved in some fun challenges to solve the problem. The skills you will use and the experiences you will have include:

- Basic technical drawing & Photoshop

- Exposure to real engineers and food technologists and their companies

- Teams competing for prizes

- Access to the latest technologies that can help you transform your solution into reality, such as 3D printing and laser cutting.

Camps will take place in Palmerston North and Auckland on the Massey University campuses.

Cost

$200 for the engineering/food technology camp only

$500 for the camp and accommodation

Permission forms

These will be emailed to you once your registration has been confirmed. A permission and medical form must be completed and returned by 29 June 2015 (but please return as soon as possible).

There can be no attendance without submitting these forms.

POWERING POTENTIAL

What change do you want to see in the world? What can you do to help achieve it and how can we harness science and technology to get there faster?

We are looking for emerging thinkers who will be tomorrow's doers – the people who will be tasked with solving some of the biggest issues facing the world.

We'll help them articulate their ideas and build their confidence, so they can achieve their true potential.

This unique opportunity will see New Zealand's most promising young students come together to seek answers to some of the world's biggest problems, supported and guided by our mentors and world-class science leaders.

Whether we make baby steps or giant leaps, we'll do it together and learn from each other.

Do you want to join us? Do you want to realise your potential?

Find out if you are eligible for Powering Potential's inaugural intake. Places are strictly limited.

Introducing the Powering Potential event

This exciting national event will be launching in December 2015 for forty successful and passionate science students who are in Year 12 and Year 13.

Powering Potential will not only challenge students but will also enhance their problem solving, team building and collaboration skills. They will get to meet and make friends with lots of other like-minded students from all over New Zealand. They will also network and talk with scientists who have had to solve their own problems.

Powering Potential will be inspiring, fun, challenging and empowering. Students that are selected will learn lots about themselves and will be encouraged and mentored to think outside the square so that they will be motivated, divergent thinkers in the future.

Powering Potential will take place in Wellington from 13 – 16 December 2015.

Goals of Powering Potential

- To inspire participants to be catalysts for positive change in the future.
- To empower students to realise their potential contribution and participation in the sciences.

For more information, please visit <http://www.royalsociety.org.nz/teaching-learning/powering-potential/>

SCIENCE SUMMER SCHOOLS

An invitation is extended to Year 12 students who are high achievers in Science and Mathematics to attend the Hills Laboratories Waikato Science & Engineering Summer School OR the Rotary National Science & Technology Forum.

Hills Laboratories Waikato Science & Engineering Summer School:

This is an outstanding opportunity for students who are strong in Science to experience a range of scientific stimuli!

- Where: University of Waikato, Hamilton
- When: 29 November – 4 December 2015
- Places available: 40 places; competition for places is high
- Fee: a $ 450 fee is payable, which includes accommodation, meals, tuition, but does not cover travel costs. The sponsoring Rotary Club may subsidise this fee.
- Eligibility: Only Year 12 students who will return to school in 2016 are eligible
- Applications: The official application form must be completed online, printed out and lodged with supporting documents through the local Rotary Club. Complete applications must reach the Rotary Club by 21 August 2015. Apply online at: www.sci.waikato.ac.nz/sciencesummerschool
Candidates will be interviewed by Rotarians from their local club before a final selection is made.

Rotary National Science & Technology Forum:

Information will soon be made available from the organising committee of the forum, to be held in Auckland, 9-23 January 2016.

Title: Debt      Artist: Cindy Huang

Media: Oil on hardboard

Context:

We all live imprisoned in a capitalistic society, where we are chained to a job. Since kindergarten we are destined to be a part of it. I often ponder on the purpose of education. We are coerced into believing that without it, we will not get a good job. Further to that the purpose of a career inevitably is to make money.

Money inadvertently is like mothers milk to an infant, without it we don't believe we are capable of surviving.

This painting is very much symbolic of our relationship with our society we live in today, enslaved to capitalism, disciples of money.

While some of the symbolism I use may appear obvious, there are also painting devices I've used that draw attention to key concepts working throughout the work

The slave collar and tie are of the same color pallet. We readily associate the color green with money, which substantiates how and why the tie and shackled collar are connected. The entire painting's color scheme is designed to emulate New Zealand currency.

The chains attaching the collar to the birds are translucent and less detailed. This alludes to the fact these chains are imagined by us, they are not real or tangible, and we are not truly bound by them.

Humming birds are well known for their high metabolism. They consume a large amount of food, 1.5-3 times their body weight everyday just to survive. The Humming birds are a metaphor for how we, like them, are driven by an insatiable urge to survive. Unfortunately we believe we have no choice but to earn money, to ensure our survival.

The suit is too big on the character which is not a misunderstanding about proportion. It is a deliberate pictorial device which symbolizes naivety. Suits often symbolize success, and aspiring to be a high earning executive is not necessarily a "good fit" for everyone.

The distortion of the face is to show that the character sees a distorted version of the world. It is also an intentional ploy to engage the viewer and entice them to question the context

The young aspiring gentleman is portrayed with three pairs of eyes. He is of the opinion that he thinks he is more aware of the world, to the point where he has convinced himself he is on a path to success. As the painter I want to challenge the viewer's notions of success.

The right eye has a cataract. It is noticeably different when viewed closely. This symbolizes that he thinks he thinks he's right, but he's actually blinded to the truth. It also suggests that we need to spend time closely observing and getting to know people, what drives them, perhaps even with some empathy or a different viewpoint

Congratulations to Cindy Huang who was selected to exhibit her painting "Debt" in the Rotorua Museum Art Awards for 2015. This is a highly competitive Award. Over one hundred artists from the Bay of Plenty entered and could submit up to two works to be judged. Only 27 artists made it into the exhibition with Cindy being the youngest, and drawing a great number of admiring comments.

Her piece cleverly uses a variety of symbolic images to engage the viewer in a visual discussion about how we are driven by the desire to work hard in order to earn money. Cindy is proposing that perhaps there needs to be more of a balance in our lives, and that we may lose sight of what's really important if we live to work and are driven by money.

The More FM People's Choice Award is up for grabs so please "like" Cindy's work on the Rotorua Museum's Facebook page, then share with all your friends and ask them to "like" her work as well. Do visit the Museum and check out the exhibition. There is the opportunity to win a $100 gift voucher if you vote using one of the People's Choice forms at the exhibition.

The exhibition runs until October 11 and is free to residents of Rotorua.

EXPERIENCE WAIKATO SESSIONS:

Monday, 6 July, 10am – 1pm

Tuesday, 7 July, 1pm – 4pm

Venue: Management Students' Building (MSB), Hillcrest Road, Hamilton.

The University of Waikato extends a warm welcome to all of your senior students considering tertiary study in 2016 to come and visit the campus during their school holidays. These sessions are a great opportunity for prospective students and their family and friends to

- find out about Waikato University's wide range of undergraduate programmes, entrance requirements and scholarships;
- take a tour of the campus and the halls of residence;
- have an individual appointment for academic advice;
- Discuss the University of Waikato 'student experience' with current students.

We would be very grateful if you would please promote the 'Experience Waikato' afternoon to your students via email, social media or any other platform that may be available to you.
